DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is a response to the amendment filed February 12, 2007. The Applicant has canceled claims 2, 26, 52, 65, and 70. Claims 1, 3-25, 27-51, 53-64, 66-69, and 71-102 are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1, 3-25, 27-51, 53-64, 66-69, and 71-102 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The original specification does not have support the newly added limitation in each of the independent claims 1, 25, 38, 50, 64, 68, 83, and 99. More specifically, the original specification does not have support for the newly added limitation of " ---while ignoring those instances of read operations unavailable in the low-latency memory requested from a second low-latency memory---" [see claim 1, for example]. It is a new matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 83-102 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. After a review of the claimed limitations and the specification (page 15), the examiner found that paragraph [1064] provides intrinsic evidence that the computer readable medium of claim 83-

102 is intended to cover embodiments where the medium is a wire, cable, signal or communication link. While wires and cables are a manufacture within the meaning of 101, in and of themselves, they do not enable the program code segments of claims 83-102 to act as a computer component and realize their functionality. As such, no usefulness of the code segments can be realized. The specification also provides evidence that the medium is intended to cover embodiments where the medium is a signal per se. In addition to not enabling the functionality of the code segments to be realized, the signal itself is a form of energy rather than a machine, manufacture, process or composition of matter. As such, it fails to fall within a statutory category. With respect to the disclosed communication links, insufficient evidence is present to establish that such would necessarily include the transmitter and receiver, and as such, the broadest reasonable interpretation is that they are simply the intermediary medium and follow the same rationale as the other media discussed above.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-102 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
